MT27 Call for Abstracts

The 27th International Conference on Magnet Technology (MT27) will be held at Fukuoka International Congress Center from Monday, November 15 to Friday, November 19, 2021. We plan a hybrid format to allow participants who are unable to attend the onsite from across the globe. The conference period will be extended in order for on-demand viewing and on-line discussion. Detailed presentation style will be announced soon. Our priority is the health and safety of the participants and staffs. Thank you for your understanding.

MT27 is an international forum for all aspects of magnet technology. The program will consist of plenary sessions, focused and special sessions, the young scientist plenary session, and oral and poster presentations, integrated with a technical trade exhibition. Authors are requested to submit abstracts via the INDICO submission site. If you don't have your account on the INDICO, you need to make your account first to submit your abstract. The content of the abstract should be less than 300 words (or 2,000 characters) addressing magnet technology research and development including superconducting, hybrid, resistive, and permanent magnets.

Submitted abstracts will be reviewed for content and when accepted, will be used to develop the technical program. All authors of accepted Oral and Poster abstracts are requested to submit their presentations. All Plenary, Oral and Poster presentations will be available to all conference attendees.
